The Committee received a Request for Additional Information dated May 19, 2016.

The RFAI notes potentially excessive contributions.
Regarding Mr. Gaskill's contribution, the Committee failed to aggregate the two contributions because of the different appearance of his name on the two contributions. The Committee has received permission to redesignate the excessive portion to Mr. Gaskill's spouse, Kay Gaskill. The reattribution will be reported on the Committee's July 15 Quarterly Report.
Regarding the contributions from John C. Martin, these contributions are, in fact, from two different donors with the same name living in different cities.
Regarding Mr. Willis' contribution, the Committee has requested permission to reattribute the excessive portion to his spouse or, in the alternative, to redesignate it for the General election.
The Committee's July Quarterly report will disclose any reattribution, redesignation or refund.

The RFAI notes contributions from potentially prohibited sources.
Two of the contributions from LLCs included memo entries properly attributing them (Krugg-Hess LLC to Ken Krugg; MCM Properties LLC to John Eichman)
With regard to the other two LLC contributions, the Committee has sent letters to the contributors asking them to verify that the LLC is eligible to contribute and for information to properly attribute the contribution among the members.
With regard to Campbell Insurance Agency, the Commiittee has requested verification that these are personal funds and not corporate funds.
The Committee's July Quarterly report will disclose any additional information regarding eligibility, attribution, or refunds relating to the contributions.
